

MOSTLY MOTETS

PRESENTS

A Concert of Early Sacred Music

3:00 p.m. • Sunday • October 23, 2005

In the Chapel of the Ursuline Convent
400 Angela Drive
Santa Rosa, California

Off of Old Redwood Highway, next to Angela Center
and near Ursuline High School

Mostly Motets is a small ensemble that sings sacred music from the Renaissance and earlier. The concert's musical selections and setting both emphasize that sense of reverence, awe, and mystery that is so eloquently expressed by the music of the early and high Renaissance.

More information about this concert and about upcoming auditions for those interested in singing with Mostly Motets is available at:

Featuring music by composers such as:

William Byrd
Guillaume Dufay
Walter Frye
Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina
Thomas Tallis
Tomas Luis de Victoria

The concert will be brief, lasting about an hour and will include both favorites from our last concert and pieces we are performing for the first time.

Admission is free.
Donations are welcome.
